

HOUSE CORPORATION SETS GOALS FOR FALL SEMESTER AND BEYOND

Committees Forming to Plan 45th Anniversary Celebration

We are happy to bring you our new and improved newsletter, The Iris. We hope the launch of our new alumni relations program will mutually benefit undergraduates and alumni and strengthen Epsilon Mu on all levels.

Coming off a successful spring semester, the undergraduates are making plans to ensure the fall is equally as successful. Even though we missed the Court of Honor at the Delt Division Conference, we walked away with the Most Improved Chapter award and proved we were a contender for the next conference.

The House Corporation is setting goals for the fall semester and beyond. The Shelter is a home away from home for our undergraduate members. We are committed to keeping our rent low. But in order to compete with dorms and apartments, we will continue to add improvements like the high-end washers and dryers, high-speed internet, and premium cable television services. These amenities will increase the value and appeal of living in the Shelter above other options. Our hope moving forward is that our Shelter will continue to be used as a recruitment tool like many of the other fraternities on campus.

The first step in accomplishing our goals has been reconnecting with you, our dedicated alumni. With your support, we know we can achieve any goal we set. As you may know, Epsilon Mu is getting ready to celebrate its 45th anniversary; we need your help to ensure this event is a success. If you would like to be involved with planning the celebration, please contact me.

Alumni, I encourage you to reconnect with the chapter—now is the time! Please stop by the Shelter the next time you are in Muncie. The undergraduates would love the opportunity to

Elements of a Successful Alumni Relations Program

- ▲ Mail at least two alumni newsletters per year.
- ▲ Hold at least two alumni-oriented events per year.
- ▲ Maintain a current database on all members and keep consistently updated.
- ▲ Educate the undergraduates on the importance of alumni involvement in the chapter.

Epsilon Mu Wins Most Improved Chapter at Division Conference

Advising Team Seeks Alumni Involvement

The spring semester was another step toward rebuilding the legacy of Epsilon Mu Chapter. At the Division Conference, we finished 24 out of 105 Delt chapters, receiving 421 of 521 possible points. That's 39 places higher than the previous year! We just missed a Court of Honor (top 20) and are 14 spots away from another Hugh Shields flag (top 10).

However, we did receive the Most Improved Chapter award. Congratulations are due to all the undergraduates for their hard work and the alumni volunteers assisting on the advising team. It was this combined effort and commitment that earned us this distinction this past year.

With this success also comes a rededication to do better. Looking ahead, we know we have much work to do. The 2008 Fraternity Awards and Accreditation Report Evaluation identified these areas as chapter weaknesses where we missed 10 or more points: recruitment, membership education, chapter operations, and campus leadership and University involvement.

There is still much work to be done to once again get the chapter to the summit of the fraternal mountain. Now is the time to renew our efforts, keep this momentum going, and focus on the areas above in the coming semester.

The advising team is actively seeking involvement from alumni like you. Alumni mentorship can make a difference in the lives of our undergraduate men. If you can assist with a phone call, a chapter visit, or more, please contact me. Let's work to make the Delt experience for today's brothers as great as it was for us.

DELT REMAINS A TOP FRATERNITY AT BSU

Collegians Prepare for Busy Semester

The Epsilon Mu Chapter had a great spring semester. We are near the top in almost every area and looking forward to a great fall semester. In the past year, we have doubled our community service hours by volunteering at places like Harvest Food Pantry, and have been involved in new philanthropic events. In the past, we have had tremendous success with our pumpkin carving and Easter egg hunt events, and we will be holding them again this year.

CHAPTER STEADILY IMPROVES

The chapter has made steady improvements with campus relations and involvement. We have three members on the executive board of IFC and two in SGA. That is up from only two members in these major organizations a year ago. More than 75% of the chapter is in outside organizations, not only as members but as leaders.

ACADEMICALLY SPEAKING

Academic performance is very important and we are proud to report that the chapter G.P.A. has been in the top four among fraternities on campus the last two semesters. Our goal for the fall semester is to move up in the ranks.

THE BEST YET TO COME

I am proud of how far we have come and how strong our brotherhood has become. We have strengthened our bond, and others on campus are beginning to take notice. As a chapter, we strive to maintain our tradition of great recruitment and growth—as a chapter and as individuals. We are excited to reap the benefits of the new alumni relations program and hope to see you this fall.

Terry Hunsucker '71 Dedicated to Increasing Alumni Involvement

Encourages Brothers of All Ages to Stay Involved

As a freshman, Terry Hunsucker '71 wanted more from college than the dorms could offer; he made the decision to join Delta Tau Delta with some friends from the dorm. During his undergraduate career, Terry served the chapter as pledge trainer, vice president, and president.

He now helps on the House Corporation in its effort to reconnect with alumni and start an official alumni association. "I encourage all alumni, young and old, to stay connected to the fraternity on some level because the values and benefits of being a part of it will help throughout your lives—your involvement will help our younger brothers become better people and responsible adults."

chapter aided him in the corporate world. "I learned a lot from my brothers about focus and direction, and it really helped me once I started working."

His Delt experience definitely allowed Terry to prosper once he left college. After earning his degree in business administration, Terry spent 35 years at Mars Inc. as a senior executive. Now retired, he is an independent investor and has divided his retirement into three areas of focus: volunteering, reviving his hometown (Winchester, Indiana), and establishing the Epsilon Mu Alumni Association. In addition, Terry enjoys spending time with his fiancée, Tammy, and her daughters. He has made his home just outside Dallas, Texas.

Terry's experience in Epsilon Mu helped him set his focus as he entered the workforce. The leadership and life skills he learned in the Terry wants his fellow alumni to realize the importance of reconnecting with Epsilon Mu and Delta Tau Delta. "I want to see more alumni involvement on all levels. We are Delts for life, not just our four years in college. And there are 100,000 Delt alumni across the country and more than 1,000 Epsilon Mu alumni. If each alumnus could spend one or two days a month at Epsilon Mu or a chapter close to where they live, it would have a tremendous impact on the young men that will soon be leaders of this country. Young men need guidance and mentorship to better prepare them for life after college."

If you are interested in helping establish the Epsilon Mu Alumni Association, please contact Terry at tlhunsucker-tx@verizon.net.

A Legend Remembered

Fraternity Mourns Loss of John W. Fisher II

John W. Fisher II, University of Tennessee '38, passed on to Chapter Eternal 17 days short of celebrating the 94th year of his extraordinary life as a husband, as the patriarch of a large family, as a highly respected city, state and national business and civic leader, and as a good Delt of the first order.

John was the sole remaining member of the legendary Four Horsemen of the Fraternity. John, Gene Hibbs, University of Kansas '33, Bud Murphy, Pennsylvania State University '38, and Ken Penfold, University of Colorado '37, came to the fraternity as field secretaries in the late '30s and remained active the rest of their lives. John met his wife of 68 years, Janice Ball, while serving on the field staff. The friendship the Four Horsemen developed as young men continued throughout their personal and professional lives and came to include their families, as well.

John was honored by Delta Tau Delta with its Alumni Achievement Award, cited with membership in the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter, and was recognized in the Badge of Honor shrine in the headquarters courtyard. At the time of his death, John was still serving the fraternity as treasurer of the Delt Educational Foundation, a position he had held since 1987.

The Fishers are longtime benefactors of Ball State University and have provided generous financial support to the university's major capital campaigns. They also generously supported the Epsilon Mu Chapter through the years, most notably the 1991 campaign to renovate and construct the east wing of the Delt Shelter bearing John's name.
